BAND STORY

"Raised on chicken fried steak and Texas football, Charley Ramsay spent 10 years in Austin music scene writing and performing with the locally successful alternative rock band, Ãçâ, ÑÄ "Hey Zeus" Ãçâ, ÑÄ . A couple of his original songs made their way onto prime time T.V. (ABC's "Cupid" and WB's "Veronica Mars"). His band Ãçâ, ÑÄ, çs songs were also heard on both local and national radio stations and they enjoyed a solid local following. In 1994, he left the band and Texas. He worked odd jobs supporting his music to include graphic art and a garage work in California and sliming fish in the fishery canneries of Alaska. During this period of Ãçâ, ÑÄ "finding himself" Ãçâ, ÑÄ , he found his wife instead and moved back to Texas to settle down and follow other passions. He has spent the last 20 year break from music to get married, receive his Masters degree in computer science, sire 6 children and pursue a career didn't Ãçâ, ÑÄ, çt involve traveling in a van with musicians. Charley Ramsay is now releasing his 1st full CD release of original songs in over 20 years. Call it a mid-life crisis. It contains 12 new songs that mix baritone vocals crowning intelligent lyrics on a bed of classical, national resonator and electric guitars. The tracks range from big-guitar rock anthems as found in Ãçâ, ÑÄ "Monkey See Monkey Do" Ãçâ, ÑÄ - a satirical look at the You Tube Generation, to the more serious alternative pop ballad, Ãçâ, ÑÄ "Catalyst" Ãçâ, ÑÄ that asks the question: Ãçâ, ÑÄ "what drives us" Ãçâ, ÑÄ ?
