

Fading out Silence

BAND STORY

" A thrill ride of melody and transition. One that will drop you from a cliff and convince you that the impact won't come, have you experience the shock of a lifetime, then smile and walk away leaving you bleary-eyed and breathless. That is the goal we try to achieve with every single song we write, and every show we play. What we want to bring to the listener is a message that is eerily haunting and beautifully hopeful. Started roughly in 2001, it began as a couple of friends getting together to have fun, but slowly grew into something resembling a dream. When we realized that it could become something more than just a way to put our talent to constructive use, we began pursuing it with all we had. We've hit some rough spots along the way, lost members to moves and harder situations, and hit some times where it seemed honestly hopeless. But all the difficulties have helped mature our sound and strengthen our drive to what it is today. The love and passion, for the art that is music, is still growing and will continue to grow exponentially. It goes beyond just enjoying stepping onto a stage and having fun...it is truly something that when we get together and write, perform, or practice we get lost...lost in a euphoric bliss that can only truly be experienced when we share it with others, which is exactly the desire that drives us. To all our fans now and the ones to come, thank you so much for the amazing support, we love you dearly! And heres to the future! May you be there with us! That about sums us up... Peace and Mercy! Jonathon "
