Objective

You may not know what my intentions are if so. Its concept is simple. You find one listener of my music and in turn they tell 2 people about my music, in turn those 2 people tell 2 of their friends and in turn each of those people tell 2 people (this could go on forever). Just from this example thatâ€™s 15 new people listening to my music from my 1 original listener! Now this may be a simplistic view, but it gives you a general idea of how powerful this concept can be. You can turn a few hundred listeners into several thousand without any extra effort in supporting your homeboy. I have filled out as much info on my artist page as possible. I know I donâ€™t have a professional photo for you to but lâ€™m working on getting some done 4 you can either use my album cover or my logo for my album. This can make a big difference on the presentation. You should play as many Mp3s as you have, I recommend at least 3. Search all related fans of artists and genres and inquire them to be listeners write blogs about my songs since blogs are used to place me in search results I wrote a bio to give you a background on my music. I gave you a site full of content because do the same it makes it more appealing, gets visitors to stay on longer, and allows them to take more of an interest in my music.
